

african-percussion.net

← Ashanti drums

ATUMPAN 3904

Atumpan

Ø25 cm - Kind of wood : Tweneboa - ... Data sheet Customer reviews

150 € the atumpan

Dimensions & materials

Diameter of strike zone : 25 cm

Height : 66 cm

Weight : 9,6 kg

Kind of wood : Tweneboa (Cordia millenii)

Thick antelope skin

A product of African craftsmen (Ghana)

Atumpan: buy drum from Africa (african drum)

The atumpan is an Akan drum considered sacred by the Ashanti.

This percussion instrument is generally used in pairs, associating the sound of the drum known as female to the deeper sound of the male atumpan.

Beyond the accompaniment of dances, these drums from Africa imitate the sound and rhythm of the African tonal languages and can be used to communicate over long distances.

Customer reviews (0)

No review about this product yet.

-

Articles associated

Medium-sized gankogui

Small gankogui